ACCIDENT ON BATTLESHIP

TWENTY-NINE LIVES LOST ON WAR VESSEL.

Worst Disaster That Has Occurred in American Navy Since Blowing up of the Maine—Accident Occurs on Missouri.

Washington, April 13.—The most serious accident that has occurred in the American navy since the blowing up of the Maine in Havana harbor in 1898 happened today on the battleship Missouri while she was engaged in target practice fifteen miles from Pensacola. News of the disaster was conveyed to the commander at Pensacola by wireless telegraph from the Missouri and thence transmitted to Washington while the big ship was creeping back to port with the dead lying on her deck. The account received at Washington was contained in the following official dispatch:

"An accident in the after turret of the Missouri at 10:50 this morning caused the death of nine men and fleet, W. C. Davidson, Ensign E. A. Welch, Second Lieutenant J. P. V. Girdley, Midshipman W. E. T. Newman and T. T. Ward, Jr. The Missouri is coming in."

"The receipt of the message caused consternation at the department. Secretary, Navy, conveyed it to the president at the white house and officers and clerks at the department were soon engaged in making out dispatches to relatives and friends of officers who were killed.

Lieutenant Davidson is a native of Indiana and was appointed midshipman from South Dakota Sept. 28, 1891. He graduated from the naval academy in 1895 and was assigned to the Olympia. He was promoted through several grades until June 16, 1892, then was made lieutenant. He was assigned to the Missouri when she went into commission and was serving as turret officer at the time of his death. His wife resides in Baltimore.

Davidson served on the Brooklyn, Monocacy, Concord, Alliance, Franklin and at the torpedo station at Newport prior to his assignment to the Missouri.

Lieutenant Welch (junior grade) was attached to the Cleveland and it is assumed at the navy department that he was aboard the Missouri as an umpire during target practice. He was a native of Connecticut.

Lieutenant Girdley was a son of the late Captain Girdley, who commanded the flagship of Admiral Dewey's squadron when he sailed into Manila bay and fought the Spanish ships. He was marine officer on the Missouri. He was a native of Pennsylvania.

Midshipman Ward, Jr., was a son of Gen. Thomas Ward, who recently retired from the active list in the adjutant corps of the United States army. He was appointed from New York.

Midshipman Newman entered the naval academy from California Sept. 16, 1899. He was assigned to the Missouri in February.

The Missouri is the very latest of the big battleship to go into commission. Her flag was hoisted in December last by Captain Cowles, brother-in-law of President Roosevelt. She collided with the Illinois off Pensacola a few weeks ago and since has had very little firing with her big guns. In fact, none of the ten rounds which should have been fired from each big gun within the course of official trials, and she is now going through her first regular target practice.

Admiral Barker in a dispatch to the department says:

"Five officers and twenty-four men are dead and two more cannot live as the result of this explosion on the Missouri. Three rounds had been fired from the after twelve-inch gun and the shell had been sealed and two sections of powder rammed home when the explosion occurred, killing every officer and man in the turret and all but three in the handling room. The names of the dead are as follows:

Lieutenant W. C. Davidson.
Lieutenant (junior grade) E. A. Welch.
Lieutenant of Marines J. V. P. Girdley.
Boatswain Mate (first-class) J. K. Peterson.

Seamen W. J. Bargar, O. N. Saunders, E. R. H. Allison.
Ordinary Seamen C. Rice, C. J. Killeen, J. Gedris, J. F. Kennedy, J. P. Starr, J. C. Nunn, C. H. M. Franks.
Landsmen S. H. S. Chobert, B. J. Millican and J. M. Roach.
Electrician (second-class) T. F. Rowlands.

Gunnery Mate (second-class) A. Smith.
Chief Gun Captain T. E. Braun.
Private Marine W. L. Shipman.

The two men who cannot live are J. T. J. Donnelly, ordinary seaman, and O. B. Moe, apprentice, second-class.

DEFEAT OF HEREROS.
Berlin, April 13.—Colonel Lettwein, governor of German Southwest Africa, reports the defeat of the Hereros. Eighty dead Hereros, besides a number of fresh graves, were found after the retreat of the enemy.

THE EXPLOSION

Account of Disaster From Pensacola, Florida.

Pensacola, Fla., April 13.—By an explosion of two thousand pounds of powder in the after twelve-inch turret and handling room of the battleship Missouri twenty-nine men were killed and five injured, two fatally. About noon a charge of powder in the twelve-inch left-hand gun ignited from gases, exploded and dropping below ignited four charges of powder in the handling room and all exploded. Only one of the entire turret and handling crew survives. But for the prompt action of Captain Cowles in flooding the handling room and magazines with water one of the magazines would have exploded and the ship have been destroyed.

According to a statement of Ordnance Officer Hammer after the first pointer of the after twelve-inch piece had fired his string and the second pointer had fired the third shot of his string the charge ignited. The fourth charge was being loaded. The first had been rammed home when gases from the previous shot or portions of the cloth cover ignited the powder. The breach was open and dull thud gave notice of something unusual. Flames leaped from every portion of the turret. A few seconds later another explosion, somewhat more fierce, occurred. This was in the handling room below, where 1,000 pounds of powder had ignited. Fire quarters were sounded and every man responded and the magazine and handling rooms were flooded. When volunteers were called for every man responded, eager to rescue the crew. Captain Cowles gave commands and but for his presence of mind and that of the officers of the ship the Missouri would have gone down.

The second explosion occurred near one of the magazines and so hot was the fire the brasswork of the magazine melted. Smoke and fumes made it almost impossible to enter the turret or handling room, but officers and men with handkerchiefs over their faces made efforts to rescue those inside. Leading the rescuing party was Captain Cowles. Officers endeavored to keep him from going below and men fell unconscious as they entered and they had to be pulled out by their comrades, but unheeding their advice Cowles rushed below, followed by Lieutenants Hammer and David. Cowles caught up a dying bluejacket in his arms and staggered to the deck with him. The bluejacket with two others from the handling room had crawled partly from their places of duty when they became overcome.

Before the fumes had left the turret officers and men were lifting out dying and dead men. Three minutes after the explosion all were on deck and surgeons from the Missouri, Texas and Brooklyn were attending the injured. The twenty-five men of the turret were found lying in a heap. They had started for the exit when the first explosion occurred and had just reached there when the explosion in the handling room occurred, which burned and strangled them to death. Lieutenant Davidson, officer in charge of the turret, evidently had given some command, as he was on top of the heap, having fallen there after he had allowed them to pass him or get out of the turret. The bodies were hardly recognizable, the terrible fire having burned the clothing from their bodies, and the flesh hung from them in shreds. Faces were mutilated by smoke and flames only. Only one man was breathing when the turret crew was rescued and he died a moment after he reached the deck.

RUSSIAN SHIP GOES DOWN

STRUCK A MINE AT PORT ARTHUR.

Rear Admiral Makaroff and Crew of Six Hundred Lose Their Lives—Were Going Out to Meet Japanese Fleet.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—While going out to meet the Japanese fleet off Port Arthur the Petropavlovsk struck a mine in the outer roadstead, toppled over, turned turtle and sank. Practically the whole of her crew was lost. Only four officers were saved, among them being Grand Duke Cyril. The Petropavlovsk was flying the flag of Vice Admiral Makaroff.

Another account says twenty men escaped from the disaster of the Petropavlovsk. The Grand Duke Cyril, between whom and the throne there is only a single life, was saved from death by a miracle. His brother, Grand Duke Boris, witnessed the catastrophe through a marine glass.

According to a very high authority the very latest advices received at the winter palace here are to the effect that a naval battle is still progressing off Port Arthur. It is estimated from six to seven hundred men perished when the Petropavlovsk sank.

The Japanese fleet off Port Arthur, including torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, totals forty. Vice Admiral Makaroff ordered his whole squadron out of the harbor to meet the attack. According to the Associated Press information, while preparing to draw up his line of battle in the outer roadstead the Petropavlovsk struck a mine on her starboard side, amidships, and immediately began to heel. Before the crew could flood the port compartments of the vessel in order to keep her on even keel she turned turtle and sank in a few minutes, carrying down almost the entire crew. Capt. N. Jakovlev, Grand Duke Cyril and two other officers were saved because they were standing on the upper bridge. The frightful loss of life among officers and men is due to the fact they were all at stations ready for action. Cyril's injuries are slight.

It is now believed the mine which sank the Petropavlovsk had drifted out of its original position. The latest estimate of number of men who lost their lives is 500. The announcement Makaroff was drowned has cast a gloom over the entire city. It is generally believed he will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Rojestvensky, who was slated to command the Baltic squadron.

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES.
St. Petersburg, April 13.—The following official dispatch has been received here from Rear Admiral Grigorovich, commandant of Port Arthur:

"The Petropavlovsk struck a mine, which blew her up, and she turned turtle. Our squadron was under Golden Hill and the Japanese squadron was approaching. Vice Admiral Makaroff is evidently lost. Grand Duke Cyril was saved. He was slightly injured, as were five officers and thirty-two men, all more or less injured. The enemy's fleet has disappeared. Rear Admiral Prince Oukhtomsky has assumed command of the fleet."

A dispatch from Viceroy Alexioff to the czar says: "According to reports from the commandant at Port Arthur, the battleships and cruisers went out to meet the enemy, but in consequence of the enemy receiving reinforcements, making his total strength thirty vessels, our squadron returned to the roadstead, whereupon the Petropavlovsk touched a mine. The whole squadron then re-entered the port. The Japanese are now off Cape Liao Shan."

REPORT OF SKIRMISH.
Tokio, April 13.—The official report of Admiral Hasegawa of a skirmish in the Yalu river, which occurred last Sunday, arrived today. It was as follows:

"In accordance with my instructions the captain of the cruiser Kasuga directed Lieutenant Homaguchi with five men to scout in the mouth of the Yalu. They accomplished the work safely and returned to the Kasuga Monday. They entered the river in a Korean junk and at 2 o'clock Sunday discovered a party of Russians leaving the right bank of the river near Tsang Taryuho in a junk. Yamaguchi attacked them, a patrol of mounted Japanese on the left bank of the river joining in the attack. In the meantime another large Russian junk joined the first one and opened fire on the Japanese. The Russians retired, reached the bank and fled inland. The exchange of fire lasted an hour and twenty minutes. The enemy had one killed and two wounded. We had no casualties."

RUSSIANS DRIVEN BACK.
Tokio, April 13.—An official telegram from Wiju says a company of Russian troops attempted to cross the first stream of the Yalu river west of Wiju this morning and that a company of Japanese attacked and drove the Russians back. The bodies of twenty dead Russians were found after the fight. Their uniforms showed they belonged to the Twelfth regiment of sharpshooters. The dispatch says small parties of Russians without uniforms have attempted to cross the Yalu river at different points between Wiju and Yongsamphi and they were all driven back.

WAR REPORTS.
St. Petersburg, April 13.—It was learned today Russian Cossacks who annihilated fifty Japanese at Samallid Island, Yalu river, April 8, numbers only thirty-seven men.

Tokio, April 13.—The fragments of the body of Commander Hirose, who was killed March 27 in the second attempt to bottle up Port Arthur, were interred today with military honors.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—An official telegram reports the appearance of a warship and several junks, supposed to be Japanese, in the neighborhood of the estuary of the Liao river during the night of April 11. They withdrew after Russian guns had opened fire on them.

Wei Hai Wei, April 13.—The action fought off Port Arthur appears to have consisted, according to reports received here, of an unsuccessful attempt made by four Japanese cruisers and one battleship to intercept a large Russian cruiser coming from the east. The Russian cruiser Askold and battleship of the Polia type went to the assistance of the Russian cruiser. The forts at Port Arthur did not participate in the action. Firing was continuous, but of short duration.

IROQUOIS CLUB HELD BANQUET

CELEBRATE THE BIRTHDAY OF JEFFERSON

Various Prominent Democrats Are Present and Discuss Ways and Means for Success of the Party in November.

Chicago, April 13.—Ways and means to bring success to the Democratic party in the presidential campaign this fall were discussed by prominent Democrats, representing every part of the country who attended the Iroquois club banquet at the Auditorium to night in celebration of Jefferson's birthday. Tariff reform, antagonism to trusts, independence for the Philippines and rigid economy in public expenditure were some of the suggestions offered by the speakers to bring about this result. The feature of the banquet was a letter from Grover Cleveland, who had been invited to attend, but was unable to be present.

When Toastmaster Gregory introduced Gen. Nelson A. Miles the five hundred banqueters rose in a body and greeted the general with decided enthusiasm. General Miles in his response to the toast, "Our Country," made a forcible argument against imperialism and his words met the approval of the audience.

The next speaker was Senator Carmack of Tennessee, who took for his theme, "Our Country."

"The Democratic Party" was the subject discussed by former Vice President Stevenson. He pleaded for a united party and adoption of living issues in the platform at the St. Louis convention.

The next speaker was Governor Garvin of Rhode Island. In response to the toast, "Democratic Success," Governor Garvin said in part:

"The Jeffersonian principle of equal rights, applied to trusts, means not merely publicly or national license for interstate trade or other attempts at restriction, but deprivation of all monopoly. In addition to the removal of the tariff monopoly it means the repeal of all laws, both state and national, which grant special privileges and substitution for them of a few simple and just enactments which shall leave to every one what he earns."

The speaker said that "President Roosevelt, aside from his horrible foreign policy, his reckless disregard of national and international law and apparent ignorance of the laws of political economy, seems really desirous of serving the people of the United States. He is the idol of that majority of the Republican party which at heart is Democratic."

But, Garvin said, these supporters have nothing to do with the policy of that party, which, he said, is determined by trusts. He said the president is made helpless by his surroundings to protect the people or institute reform, and predicted that if the Roosevelt administration continues another four years the wealth of this country would be concentrated more and more in the mailed aristocracy.

Toastmaster Gregory then read a letter from former President Cleveland, who expressed deep regret at not being able to be present at the banquet, and said:

"It is especially fitting at this time of confusion in political ideas and misapprehension as to the meaning of true Democracy that the character of the great exemplar of Democracy should be fully appreciated and that his political opinions should be better interpreted and understood. His devotion to the interests of the people, his wise conservatism and his constant adherence to the public good, always the guiding star of his career, commend his acts and his beliefs to the careful study of those who patriotically seek the welfare of our country through the ascendancy of safe and sane Democracy."

Martha W. Littleton, of New York, took for his subject "The Empire State, the Hope of Democracy," and said in part:

"You ask me, what of the empire state? What of the hope of Democracy? Speaking solely on my own responsibility, I tell you the Democracy of New York demands return to constitutional government and obedience to constitutional authority. It demands the shelter of the tariff shall be withdrawn from those who do not need it; that extravagance shall be cut out root and branch."

"The Democracy of New York appeals to the Democracy of the west to join with it in a policy which will restore the shattered forces of the country and redress its wasted ranks with all walls of life; a policy which will measure up to the expanding commerce of the age and reclaim the faith of those who left us in fear; a policy which will provide for labor a chance to work, a full wage in honest pay and pledge of all our power and pride to make these rights secure; a policy which will give to capital a chance for investment in all convenient forms and protect it to the utmost; a policy which will treat the islands of the Pacific as accomplished facts and administer them for their safety and which has its roots deep down in the soil of constitutional government and whose fruitage shall be the fullest and freest within the genius of the Anglo-Saxon race."

"And you ask me 'What of the man who shall lead us in the contest?' The answer from the state is a cry from every class to every class for Judge Alton B. Parker."

LETTER FROM BRYAN.
A letter was read from William J. Bryan, in which he said:

"I trust those present will take advantage of the occasion to present to the country the importance of maintaining Democratic principles as they are set forth in the platforms of 1896 and 1900. The merger decision shows how closely the supreme court is divided and how easy it is for those who sympathize with corporate wealth to find plausible reasons for staying the hand of the government when it attempts to rebuke those who exploit the people. Under our constitution the president appoints the judges and those who have watched the decisions in the Hayes-Tilden contest, income tax cases, trust cases and cases involving the policy of the government in the Philippines can not doubt it is as important to have judges who sympathize with the people as to have judges learned in law."

"In the present struggle between plutocracy and democracy corporations are seeking to control the supreme court and if they can do that the house of representatives, senate and president are powerless to protect the people."

"I trust those who are honored with an invitation to speak at your banquet will raise a note of warning against the attempt now being made by money magnates to control the Democratic convention and to secure the nomination of a Democratic candidate who will be obliged in advance to betray the hopes of the Democratic masses."

The letter from Bryan, although given to the press, was not read at the banquet.

PRESENTED FUND
Knights of Columbus Endow Chair of Secular American History at Catholic University.

Washington, April 13.—The $5,000 fund raised by the Knights of Columbus for the endowment of a chair of secular American history at the Catholic university was presented to that institution today with impressive ceremonies. Distinguished prelates of the Catholic church in America and chief officers of the Knights of Columbus and hundreds of others were present. Addresses were made by Monsignor O'Connell, rector of the university; Cardinal Gibbons, Supreme Knight; Edward J. Hearn and Bishop Garigan of Sioux City.

THE POPE NOT ILL.
Rome, April 13.—Dr. Lippold, authorized the Associated Press to deny the pope is ill. The doctor visited the pontiff this morning, as he does several times each week, but he was not called to attend the pope.

QUEEN ISABELLA'S FUNERAL.
Paris, April 13.—Imposing funeral services over the remains of the late Queen Isabella were held in the palace of Castile were attended by officials and diplomats. A special train bore the body to Madrid.

Amherst Baseball.
Regular baseball practice has begun at Amherst. A large number of candidates have reported to Captain Shay. Practice will be continued every afternoon to try out the new material. Fielding practice will be held in the baseball cage in Pratt gymnasium under the direction of Captain Shay, while the batting drill will be in Barrett gymnasium. For some time this will be the extent of the work until the squad is thinned out and more of the old men report. Coach Dowd will then take up the work in sliding to bases, and the general theory of the game will be studied.

Reid Harvard's Coach.
The appointment of Edward Bowditch, Jr., to a secretarial position with the United States consulate at Dalny, Manchuria, is taken by well informed undergraduates to mean that Bill Reid will be head football coach for Harvard this season. Bowditch was practically slated for the position, and now that he has accepted the consular place it is looked upon as a certainty that Reid will be given the post.

Ill-Tempered Horses.
Bad habits in horses must always have their origin in bad handling when they are young. Kind treatment will develop the best there is in a horse, but meanness to colts hurts a horse's disposition permanently. Jerking at the bit and other ill treatment never do any good. Horses have long memories. They do not forget injuries.

Andrews Has Tommy Britton.
The well known trainer W. J. Andrews has arrived at the Jewett covered track with a string of seven horses. In the lot are Tommy Britton, 2:08½; Re-elected, 2:11½, and five without records, including several that are very promising.

Concerning Jack Curry.
Jack Curry will have the Texas pacer Al Rock back in his stable this year. Curry will train his horses at the Empire City (N. Y.) track early in the season and put the finishing touches on at the Grasse Point course.

TERRIBLE BLOW TO RUSSIA

CONSTERNATION CREATED AT ST. PETERSBURG

Day of Intense Excitement in the Russian Capital—Thousands Gathering Around the Ministry of Marine.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—The awful disaster to the battleship Petropavlovsk at Port Arthur, with the loss of almost her entire crew of over six hundred men and the death of Vice Admiral Makaroff, has been a terrible blow. It would have fallen less heavily if the ship and commander-in-chief of the fleet had been lost in battle, but to be the result of another accident following upon the heels of a succession of tragedies of which the Port Arthur fleet has been the victim has created something like consternation. Besides it has just become known that the battleship Poltava several weeks ago had a hole rammed in her by the battleship Sevastopol while the latter was maneuvering in the harbor of Port Arthur.

The day has been one of intense excitement in St. Petersburg. The first inkling of the catastrophe leaked out on receipt of a telegram by Grand Duke Vladimir from his son, Grand Duke Boris, announcing the loss of the Petropavlovsk and wounding of Grand Duke Cyril, who was first officer. The Grand Duke Vladimir was almost frantic on receipt of the telegram, being convinced the message was only a precursor of the worst news.

When it was certain that Cyril was not dead a religious service was immediately held at Grand Duke Vladimir's palace, in which thanks were returned to the Almighty for sparing the life of the grand duke. The emperor was so overwhelmed with grief at the death of Makaroff that neither he nor the empress attended the service.

The city was filled with the wildest rumors, but official dispatches were so meager and private dispatches so conflicting the public was kept in suspense for six hours. Then, although the report was incomplete, dispatches were posted on bulletin boards. The grief of the crowds, whose worst fears were thus officially confirmed, was touching. The ministry of marine was soon surrounded by thousands of persons asking for the details. In the crowd of clamorous were the stricken relatives of those on board the Petropavlovsk.

What occurred prior to the blowing up of the flagship is only vaguely known except that Makaroff sailed out to engage the enemy until his reinforcements appeared. It is thought possible Togo planned an ambush by sending a small squadron in hope of drawing out the Russian commander to the open and then cutting off his escape.

The Associated Press learns location of six of the mines planted by the Yonesset were unknown, charts having been lost when that vessel went down. Probably it was one of these mines that the Petropavlovsk struck.

Makaroff's death is really a greater loss than would be that of several battleships. He was the pride of the navy and enjoyed implicit confidence of his sovereign as well as of the officers and men in the service.

TRIBUTE OF JAPANESE.
London, April 13.—The Japanese legation to night had no official information in regard to fighting to day off Port Arthur. Baron Hayashi, Japanese minister, said Vice Admiral Makaroff's death was an exceedingly dramatic occurrence, and he paid tribute to the late admiral as a great strategist and tactician and said his death would be a great loss to the Russian navy.

Paris, April 13.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Journal says Grand Duke Cyril was on the bridge of the Petropavlovsk when the explosion occurred and was thrown into the sea, which led to the saving of his life. Makaroff was in the cabin with Rear Admiral Moles.

The Matin's St. Petersburg correspondent claims to have details received by the emperor, according to which Makaroff went to ascertain the Japanese position and his force not being strong enough to meet the enemy's thirty vessels retired. Two miles outside the entrance to Port Arthur an explosion literally hurled the battleship out of the water, completely overturning her. Makaroff's plan of campaign was lost with him. It is not known, says the correspondent, whether the catastrophe was due to a floating mine or to a Japanese submarine vessel. The Japanese certainly witnessed the catastrophe.

DIED FROM INJURIES.
St. Louis, April 13.—Charles O'Brien, editor of the American Celt, who was assaulted on the street and taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition, is dead from injuries.

BANK ROBBERS.
Marshalltown, Iowa, April 13.—The Bank of Duncombe, Iowa, was entered to day by thieves, who attempted to dynamite the safe. They were discovered and fled before accomplishing their purpose. Officers are in pursuit.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.
Detroit, April 13.—A gasoline explosion at the Cadillac automobile works to day caused a fire that damaged the plant $300,000. Four employees were hurt.

WRECK ON ROCK ISLAND.
Joliet, April 13.—A Rock Island passenger train from St. Paul ran into a freight to day. Two persons were seriously hurt. The cars took fire from the wrecked engine.

WAR REPORTS.
St. Petersburg, April 13.—It was learned today Russian Cossacks who annihilated fifty Japanese at Samallid Island, Yalu river, April 8, numbers only thirty-seven men.

Tokio, April 13.—The fragments of the body of Commander Hirose, who was killed March 27 in the second attempt to bottle up Port Arthur, were interred today with military honors.

St. Petersburg, April 13.—An official telegram reports the appearance of a warship and several junks, supposed to be Japanese, in the neighborhood of the estuary of the Liao river during the night of April 11. They withdrew after Russian guns had opened fire on them.

Wei Hai Wei, April 13.—The action fought off Port Arthur appears to have consisted, according to reports received here, of an unsuccessful attempt made by four Japanese cruisers and one battleship to intercept a large Russian cruiser coming from the east. The Russian cruiser Askold and battleship of the Polia type went to the assistance of the Russian cruiser. The forts at Port Arthur did not participate in the action. Firing was continuous, but of short duration.

A letter was read from William J. Bryan, in which he said:

MILITIA OFFICER RESIGNS.

Springfield, April 13.—Adjutant General Scott to night received the resignation of Capt. Frank Hamilton and First Lieut. Lewis Neal and Charles Lanphier of the engineer company of this city, in the Illinois national guard.

First Lieutenant Dallman will tender his resignation to morrow and the company will in all probability be mustered out of the service. The failure of Captain Hamilton to file bond securing certain state property in his possession is said to be the cause that has led to the tender of Captain Hamilton's resignation. The other officers have resigned out of courtesy to the captain.

ARE NOT ELIGIBLE.

Pekin, April 13.—The board of town auditors of Pekin township have discovered that two of the highway commissioners elected at the annual election on April 5 are not eligible to that office. Henry Strickfaden was elected as a commissioner for district No. 2. The law says that a man must be a resident of the district from which he is elected. Mr. Strickfaden resides in the city of Pekin, just outside of the boundary of district No. 2. Attention being called to this fact he refused to qualify.

Charles Towne was elected from district No. 3 and it has been learned that he has not been a resident of the township for a year, as the law requires. The other commissioner, George Helsel, who has served four years, having been re-elected only last year, resides within the corporate limits of Pekin and therefore is ineligible. At a meeting yesterday afternoon the town board decided to call a special meeting for Saturday, at which time three commissioners will be appointed, one from each of the districts. This decision was reached after consulting with attorneys, who advised the plan in order to make the tax levy legal, for the commissioners are required to certify to the road and bridge tax levy on Sept. 1.

WARRANT FOR BIGAMIST.

Governor Yates Wednesday issued a requisition on the governor of Ohio for the return to Chicago of Richard Farris, alias Richard Ferris, who is accused of bigamy. The affidavit is made by Julia Cunningham, of Chicago, who says that in 1886 he married Emma C. Murphy in Chicago and in 1903 deserted her and married Lulu Wilcox in Franklin county, Ohio. He returned to Chicago with the second wife, introduced her to the first and told No. 1 he had decided to leave her forever. Farris is under arrest in Cleveland.

PECULIAR CAUSE OF DEATH.

Evansville, Ind., April 13.—Bertha Montgomery, the young Owensville school teacher who went insane about six weeks ago after witnessing the whipping of thirty-one of her pupils, died at the hospital for the insane here yesterday.

As soon as the news of the girl's death reached her home a petition was at once circulated asking the trustees not to re-employ Professor Leslie, the man who administered the whippings which caused Miss Montgomery to lose her mind. The petition is signed by one hundred citizens.

VIRIDEN MAN HAD SMALLPOX.

Springfield, April 13.—Harry Mallon, of Viriden, came to the city yesterday afternoon and presented himself to Dr. Spindel for treatment. After an examination the physician found that he was suffering with smallpox and had him sent to the isolation hospital. There are now two cases of smallpox at the hospital.

Hope and Health for All Women.

Zoa Phora Will Cure and Make You a Well Woman.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE TO ALL. Zoa Phora cures permanently and perfectly all diseases, weaknesses and irregularities of the sex, displacements, suppressed and painful periods.

MRS. PAUL BURNS, Parshallville, Mich. "I want all my friends to know the great good Zoa Phora has done for me. I suffered for months with nervous prostration, sick headache and kidney and bladder trouble. After holding consultation, four doctors said I could not live without an operation, and I was too weak to have one. Bunches formed in my bowels and I became so sore that I lost the use of my limbs. The doctor called the bunches tumors. He said that I also had a floating kidney, and would not be any better until I had it moved in place. After using one bottle of Zoa Phora, I could stand on my feet, and after taking three bottles I could walk around the room, and after the fourth bottle I was able to walk out-of-doors."

Write the Zoa Phora Co., Kalamazoo, Mich. for a free trial bottle and copy of their illustrated medical book, "Dr. Pengelly's Advice to Women." The doctor will gladly give free special advice when needed. Zoa Phora is for sale at $1.00 a bottle by all druggists.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald. The new scalp antiseptic, Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic, Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Armstrong & Armstrong, Special Agents.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

A gentleman of this city, commenting on the snow Friday, said that exactly forty-two years ago that day the "beautiful" fell in this county to the depth of eight inches, and he well remembered the fact. Another gentleman said that in April, 1881, a part of the C. & A. track between this city and Chicago, was blocked by snow; so we see this dreadfully backward season is not without its counterpart.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM CURED.

"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful liniment," for sale by all leading druggists.

Why Fremont Unfermented Grape Juice is Nutritious

Because it's Good, Pure and Unfermented.

FREMONT GRAPE JUICE is not the thing to drink if you must become intoxicated. Thousands of physicians prescribe it in their practice regularly because they have found the FREMONT brand of Grape Juice to be absolutely the life of the grape and nothing else. Alcoholic juices and beverages are temporary stimulants at best, while with FREMONT GRAPE JUICE the good effects are permanent and lasting.

For Sacramental uses, Fremont Grape Juice is certainly the safest, purest and best that can be procured for this purpose.

HUNTERS EXTRAORDINARY.

Mercedosa, Ill., April 13.—Dear Sir: I desire information regarding two men who arrived in this place to day, saying they were in quest of game. One of them carried a yard stick and seemed better acquainted with carpets and furniture than with the gun he bore. The other had no gun, declaring he was tall enough to pluck the game from the trees without any shooting iron. After bracing up with a lunch of sandwiches and water they started for the timber and from the manner in which we heard the discharge of a gun and the shouts of two men, we are inclined to think they must have struck something. If you know anything about these strangers, please let us hear from you, as we don't want them to get into any trouble, for they appear to have the best of intentions and no wish to harm anybody.

"P. S.—One of the most successful hunters of this vicinity just now came in and told wonderful stories regarding the abundance of game and the ease with which it could be had, but when asked to explain his pathetic pocketbook and empty game bag, he suddenly had business elsewhere.

LOST MONEY AND ALMOST LIFE.

The wife of a prominent professional gentleman of this city received a day or two since from a lady in another county a letter expressing the sincere regrets of the writer over the death of the recipient's husband. She went on to express her appreciation of the many good qualities of the deceased; his amiable manners, winning ways, attractions, personal, professional ability, and wound up by saying that she was indebted to him a certain sum, which she hastened to inclose, as in time of trouble ready money would be acceptable.

As the husband of the recipient had gone from home to his business that morning in perfect health, she didn't worry much about his supposed demise, and when he returned home to dinner she showed him the letter and both declared if he was a corpse he was a lively one.

The gentleman said it was bad enough to be sent out of the world without having his money given to some one else, but while his better half decided to keep the check she reminded him that they twin were one, so it didn't make much difference. It is singular that such a report should have been started, as the writer of distant.

ABOLITION DAYS.

The class in American history of Illinois college met at the home of T. P. Carter Wednesday morning to listen to an account of anti-slavery days in Jacksonville from Mr. Carter's mother. Mrs. Carter read a very interesting paper on the underground railroad in Jacksonville and gave some reminiscences of the connection of the college with the anti-slavery conflict. Having been herself directly connected with many of the events described, Mrs. Carter portrayed in a most vivid manner the struggles and trials of the early abolitionists in Jacksonville.

 Fourth Ward,
 J. W. WALTON.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of circuit clerk of Morgan county, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention.

C. L. HAYDEN.

ROCK ISLAND CONVENTION.

The Republican convention wound up in what was nearly a riot at Rock Island. The trouble was by a move to centralize the control of the county committee in the cities of Rock Island and Moline. Heretofore the country district has been a balance of power. The country delegates were lined up with the Yates faction and made vigorous objection. The chairman, a lowdown man, refused to recognize them and but for the prompt appearance of Sheriff Herd with a force of deputies a free fight would have ensued. The country delegates left the hall and the Lowden faction named the committee.

SNAP CONVENTION.

The bitterness of the fight between Attorney General Hamlin and Governor Yates was shown Tuesday in the Twenty-first congressional district, where the friends of the attorney general controlled the congressional committee in session at Springfield, and called the convention for Litchfield on Friday, April 15.

In naming this early date, which is more than two weeks prior to the Sangamon county convention of the Yates forces, the Hamlin supporters sought to deny representing to the Yates contingent in that county.

There are four counties in the district, Sangamon, Christian, Macoupin and Montgomery. The Hamlin forces in Sangamon have held their convention. The governor carried Macoupin county and Hamlin landed Christian. Contesting delegations were elected in Montgomery county. Should the Yates forces have no representation from Sangamon county the Hamlin forces would control and thus gain prestige.

However, Chairman J. A. Wheeler, of the Sangamon county committee, expecting a coup by the Hamlin forces, has made up a list of delegates who will represent the Yates contingent at the congressional convention. As Macoupin has more votes than Christian, it is expected the delegation appointed by Mr. Wheeler will be seated together with the Yates delegation from Montgomery. Should the Hamlin delegates bolt, two presidential electors, two sets of delegates to the national convention and two state committeemen probably would be named.

CANDIDATE FOR UNIVERSITY TRUSTEE.

Mrs. Springer is the candidate of the Republican women, in and out of clubs, by a large majority for the position of university trustee.

She is true blue Republican, well educated, intelligent woman, who having well managed her own large fortune, has practical business experience to bring to the board, which is responsible for the sound administration of large public funds.

She is also the candidate of Cook county, as it is Cook's turn to present the name of a woman trustee. Two women from the state outside of Cook will remain on the board. She is a much loved member of the Woman's Relief corps, is extremely popular with the Grand Army and the dames of the Loyal Legion. Some months since she spent over a thousand dollars in the purchase of a lot in Elmwood cemetery, near Chicago, as a last resting place of widows of soldiers. The Eastern Star claims her as an active, generous member also. In short, she will be the most popular woman candidate ever nominated.

A few more names of the participants in the carnival have been handed in by the ladies. If any more have been omitted, will they please rise and be counted? The Journal doesn't want to omit anybody and has to depend on the ladies for the names.

New England choruses—Irene Merrill, Ruth Bayington, Helen Raugh, Julia Ferris, Bessie Shrewsbury, Ruby Angle, Lillian Davis and Geradine Sibley.

GAVE DECISION

Attorney General Hamlin Expresses Views on Assessments.

Attorney H. J. Hamlin has decided a knotty problem for assessors who are making up the schedules of personal property in the various townships of the state. The question was where it was found separated from its owner. Mr. Hamlin in a letter says: "Dear Sir: Your letter is at hand asking my construction of section 8 of the revenue law of this state. The general provision of the law is that personal property shall be listed and assessed in the county, town, city, village or district where the owner resides.

Section 8 referring to the place where personal property shall be listed for taxation declares:

"When the owner of live stock or other personal property connected with a farm does not reside thereon, the same shall be listed and assessed in the town or district where the farm is situated.

"The question you ask is with reference to the construction of the term 'connected with a farm,' and you ask to have the construction applied to a case where the owner of a farm does not reside on the farm, and where the farm is rented for grain rent, and where the share of the landlord has been harvested, set aside for and delivered to the landlord as his rent, though the share may yet remain on the farm; and you ask whether in such a case the landlord's share of the crop, after such delivery to him should be assessed to the landlord in the township where the farm is situated, or to the landlord in the place where he resides.

"In reply permit me to say that in my opinion the words 'connected with a farm,' as used in section 8 as above referred to, means all property used in carrying on a farm or conducting farm operations, or the products thereof in the possession of and owned by the person carrying on the farm, or conducting the farming operations.

"In the case you present, where the grain has been separated from the farm and from the control or use of the person who is in fact conducting and carrying on the farm, its connection with the farm has ceased. It has ceased as completely as would the money rent, if the landlord had been paid the rent in money by the tenant and then had left the money with the tenant on the farm for safe keeping. It may be the proceeds or profits of the farm, but when it is produced by the tenant and delivered to the landlord as his profit, its connection with the farm has ceased, and it should be assessed in the locality where the landlord resides.

SENATORS CLASH.

A Washington telegram says Senator Hopkins, of Illinois, and Senator Teller, of Colorado, were the participants in a heated colloquy on the floor of the senate Tuesday. It was all about the removal of General Thomas from the appraisership at Chicago. Mr. Hopkins was absent from the chamber when Mr. Teller began some remarks on the removal of General Thomas. As soon as he came in the ire of the Illinois senator rose and he pitched savagely into the elderly statesman from Colorado. He resented the imputation of Teller that the dismissal was not warranted, and Mr. Teller said he would take General Thomas' word as to the facts as soon as he would take the word of the senator from Illinois.

"I judge that the senator from Colorado is easily satisfied," said Senator Hopkins with asperity. "He would evidently take the word of somebody from the slums in preference to mine if that was what he wanted to hear." He added that if Senator Teller's record was as clear as his own there would be no trouble.

Senator Teller's face was white with anger.

"I will say," he remarked, "that after more than twenty-five years' public service this is a gratuitous insult."

Mr. Hopkins tried to make a reply, but Mr. Teller declined to be interrupted "until the senator from Illinois could acquire the manners of the senate."

Senator Hopkins said that after his eighteen years of public service he did not have to be reminded of the amenities, and then proceeded to discuss the charges made by General Thomas. He said the office of General Thomas had been investigated by the treasury department and that the general had been allowed to remain on account of his years and his service long after the time when the interests of the office demanded a change.

Senator Cullom tried to pour a little oil on the troubled waters by saying that when the secretary of the treasury called him in and explained the facts he agreed that the dismissal of General Thomas was justifiable. Senator Cullom then told the circumstances of General Thomas' death and added that, without question, worry over his dismissal from office led to the end.

JUSTICE MAGRUDER WELL.

WINTER WHEAT

The crop report for the week ending April 12, issued by Section Director Burns of the Illinois section of the United States weather bureau, says:

"The weather the first part of the week was fair and cool, with considerable bright sunshine; the latter part was mostly cloudy and showery. On the 8th a snowstorm covered portions of the central and the entire northern district. The temperature averaged below normal.

"The season is decidedly backward, the weather has been favorable, and but little progress made in farming operations. The soil is wet and soggy and unfit for spring plowing.

"The average condition of winter wheat is good, and the crop is improving where average conditions obtained. A small acreage of spring wheat has been sown. Considerable damage has ensued in river bottom fields and lowlands from overflows and inundation. In the principal wheat growing section, the southern district, reports indicate a decreased average sown.

"Much corn is spoiling in cribs, and seed of assured vitality will probably be scarce.

"Considerable sowing of oats has been done in the northern district, but the work done represents only a small part of the crop. In the central and southern districts but little progress has been made, and the season is estimated to be ten days to two weeks backward.

"Rye is in a thrifty and normal stage of development.

"Meadows and pastures are starting and the outlook is generally promising. Some old clover fields are reported to have been damaged during the winter.

"Except peaches, which have been generally killed or damaged, the fruit prospects are assuring. The outlook for apples is especially promising at this time.

"Some gardens have been made and early potatoes planted, but the work is backward.

"Stock has wintered well and is now in good condition."

CENTRAL DISTRICT REPORTS.

Macon, Macon—Season very backward on account of rain; no oats sown and grass making a weak start; some attempts made at gardening; peach buds not all killed, and there is some prospect for cherries; too early to know about other fruits—T. H. Barr.

Mason, Kilbourne—Two-thirds of winter wheat is killed; that on bottom lands is all right; too much rain now for farm work; no oats sown yet; a few potatoes planted; red clover and peaches killed; blackberries injured.—T. R. Blunt.

Pike, Griggsville—Weather cold; vegetation backward; very little gardening done; farmers find seed corn in bad condition as a result of damp weather.—M. B. Dickerdike.

THE GOOD OF MEDICINE.

People insisting that medicine does no good, have one stubborn fact to contend with, that is, the people who do believe are greatly in the majority. We have been so fortunate during the past twenty years as to convince thousands of sufferers with weak, watery blood, who had all the symptoms of a general breaking down of the system, that one medicine at least does good. Nervous and unsteady people, weak, fleshless people, pinny pale or sallow people can have strong, steady nerves and solid, healthy flesh by the use of Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic. A tablet to take at meal time, it turns the food you eat into rich, red blood, making solid flesh at the rate of 1 to 3 pounds per week. Sold by all druggists for 75c per box, or 3 boxes for $2. This medicine saves doctor bills and insures health, giving the very best treatment possible. Lee P. Alcott, druggist.

ELKS IN NEW QUARTERS

Initial Meeting Held Wednesday Evening—Candidates Are Received After Installation of Officers.

Jacksonville Lodge, B. P. O. E., No. 682, held their first meeting, installation of officers and initiation of candidates in their new quarters over the Seeburger building Wednesday evening.

The second and third floors of the building have been leased for a term of years and they have been arranged in an ideal manner. The local lodge of Elks can certainly feel proud of the appointments, as they are perfect in every detail.

The rooms are all neatly and artistically finished, the floors are of hard maple and the lighting facilities are most excellent. The chandeliers are of handsome and ornamental design and the number of wall brackets add to the brilliancy of the rooms when illuminated.

The card room, reading room and billiard room are located on the second floor and are spacious and well adapted for the purposes for which they will be used. The side walls in the card and reading rooms are done in green with ceiling in buff. In the billiard room the side walls are in deep red, with ceiling of buff.

On the third floor is the lodge room proper, where the degrees are conferred; paraphernalia room, preparation room, dining room and cuisine.

The lodge room has spacious dimensions and is nearly square in shape. Above the baseboard, extending three feet high, is a green dado of burlap, extending around the room, surmounted by a gilt molding. The side walls are tinted in a dainty canary color and the ceiling is in pale green. The ornamentation on the ceiling is a beautiful piece of work and the letters, "B. P. O. E.," appear within this ornamental design.

The dining room is also done in canary color, with ceiling of pale green and design. Folding sliding doors separate these two rooms, which can be easily thrown together when occasion demands.

The furniture for the lodge and dining rooms has not yet arrived, but will be of elegant pattern and in keeping with the other superb appointments. The officers' chairs will be upholstered in leather with massive frames of highly polished quarter sawed oak. The tables and chairs for the dining room will be of antique pattern and of Flemish oak material. Both of the above rooms are admirably lighted with large chandeliers and numerous side brackets. The fixtures are most beautiful in design and splendid taste was used in the purchasing of them. They are adapted to either gas or electricity.

The cuisine is a model of arrangement and has every needed convenience. Its facilities are ample for serving a banquet for 200 guests. Back of the cuisine is the preparation room, coat and hat room and toilet rooms.

At the meeting last evening there was a large attendance of home and visiting members. All expressed themselves highly pleased with the home of the order and spoke in most complimentary terms of the work of the hall committee.

A class of twenty candidates was initiated into the mysteries of the order during the evening and at the conclusion of the ceremony the installation of the newly elected officers took place. Harry M. Ticknor, past exalted ruler, acting as special deputy installing officer by special dispensation of the grand exalted ruler.

The occasion was an especially happy one and will long be remembered with pleasure. The young ladies present at the dinner were: Misses Lucile Harris, Lois Owen, Anna Stevenson, Athol Leach, Edna Pratt, Gladys and Eva Cochran; Messrs. Earl Gordon and George Vieira. Other guests at the house were Messrs. LeRoy Scott, Howard Phelps, Percy Owen and H. E. Eilers.

The Boston Transcript says: "Mr. Wilhelm Heinrich, the well known tenor of this city, who gave the first of his Easter season recitals yesterday morning in the white and gold Napoleonic ball room of the Hotel Tailorier, called out one of the most fashionable audiences of the season. Mr. Heinrich had an interesting program of songs with the compositions by Dr. Richard Strauss, the German composer, who visited here recently. The Madchenblumen was delightfully rendered and great praise is due Mr. Benjamin Whelpley for his exquisite accompaniments."

WASHINGTON CHITCHAT

President Roosevelt's Strenuous Plan to Reduce His Flesh.

TAKES LESSONS IN REAL JIU JITSU

Remarkable feat of strength of one of the Japanese wrestlers who are training the President - W. A. Smith to be Cannon's John Hay. Represented Sibley's Fastest Automobile Ride - An Embarrassed Name.

President Roosevelt has again taken up Jiu Jitsu, and this time it is the real thing, says the Washington correspondent of the New York World. His instructors are two Japanese who are masters in the art of doubling a man up in agony with a gentle pinch of the thumb or breaking an arm with the twist of the wrist.

They are thin little fellows with frail looking bodies, but they are bundles of steel. They were brought over from Japan by Samuel Hill, son-in-law of James J. Hill, who introduced them to the President. They had heard that Mr. Roosevelt took some lessons in Jiu Jitsu from Professor O'Brien two years ago and they asked him to let them show him what they could do.

The President told Captain Loeffler, his doorkeeper, to admit no callers, not even senators or cabinet members, and turned his office over to the Japs. Their exhibition caused Mr. Roosevelt to stop winking and snip. They showed him what Jiu Jitsu really is and they were engaged on the spot. The President is now spending an exceedingly strenuous hour with them on two afternoons a week and he always is promptly on hand, no matter what business has to be dropped.

There are seven degrees in Jiu Jitsu. The President's instructors have it up to the fifth degree and Mr. Roosevelt intends to have all five of them. Jiu Jitsu really is the science of anatomy. Wonderfully developed. It brings into play unheard of muscles and turns them all into steel, while superfluous flesh melts under the exercise like snow in a blast furnace. That is the feature that especially appeals to the President just now, as he weighs more than 200.

When the two Japs reached San Francisco one of them was matched against the champion heavyweight wrestler of the Pacific coast, who straddled up the Japs by publicly declaring that Jiu Jitsu was a useless fad and that the strength it was supposed to develop was theoretical or imaginary. The strangle hold, which is the terror of all wrestlers, was allowed in the contest. The Jap waited for the wrestler to get him into a good strangle hold. Then the Jap pressed his chin into the arms that clinched his neck, grasped his antagonist around the chest, tightened his muscles a bit and in a minute the wrestler rolled over in a faint, with the blood pouring from his nose and mouth. Then the Jap took on two big prize fighters and quickly rendered both of them helpless with a few lightning twists.

With the two Japs is a Japanese woman, who is also an expert in the art, and she is teaching Jiu Jitsu to a large class of Washington society women, whose husbands are in a panic.

"William," said Speaker Cannon to William Alden Smith of Michigan the day after Smith nominated Cannon for President in a speech in the house, "that was very kind of you to nominate me for President."

"I'm glad you liked it," smiled Smith.

"Yes, William, and when I get to be President you can have John Hay's job. You needn't bring any testimonials or use any influence. Just go right up to the state department and take your seat."

Representative Sibley of Pennsylvania, who owns several automobiles, was telling some members of the house of his fastest automobile ride.

"I was out trying a new car when it got away from me and started through a cornfield," Mr. Sibley said. "In the same field, twining about the corn stalks, were growing lima beans. The machine traveled so fast I thought I was going through a sea of succotash."

Archibald Roosevelt is not old enough to pose as a lover and to appreciate impassioned love songs directed at him. A few days ago Mrs. Roosevelt went to a matinee performance in Washington of "The Wizard of Oz" with her young sons Archie and Quentin and several of their playmates. The party of little folk occupied a box next to the proscenium arch. When Lotta Faust sang her famous "Sammy" song she selected Archie as her young Romeo and centered the attention of the great audience of children on the little fellow. He moved uneasily in his embarrassment and tried to look unconcerned, but the more endearing the song became the more he blushed. Miss Faust was recalled repeatedly, and each time she sang another stanza she became more demonstrative. "Oh, Sammy, I'm pining for thee!" and the other endearing terms in the chorus finally made Archie so nervous that he indignantly retired behind his mother's chair, remarking afterward that he "liked bears better than girls."

Zulu Prince's Course of Study.

The latest student to be admitted to the reading room of the British Museum is "his royal highness Prince Cetewayo, third son of King Cetewayo," the Zulu chief of famous memory, says the Sheffield Telegraph. The prince proposes to study the history of his country, from the time of his celebrated ancestor, Chaka.

QUERIES ABOUT KOREA.

Korea, which was the Hermit Kingdom of yesterday, is today one of the best advertised countries on the globe, says the New York Tribune. Korea was the chief cause of the present war between Russia and Japan, and as such she is of interest to all civilized nations. All the queer customs and quaint usages of the little realm where men wear skirts and women high hats are being ruthlessly dragged out of their obscurity and displayed before the eyes of the world.

Evidence of America's interest in faraway Korea is to be seen in the flood of letters which are pouring in on Horace N. Allen, the American minister at Seoul, the Korean capital. The communications contain all kinds of questions. One man wants to know if he can get a concession to start a gold mine and just where he had better dig first. Another of less commercial trend of mind desires information concerning wild flowers.

Among others who are deluging Mr. Allen with inquiries is a small boy. While Russia and Japan are rushing troops over the Korean mountains the small boy has taken the opportunity to skirmish for postage stamps. In answer to numerous letters which he has received requesting loose Korean postage stamps Mr. Allen has replied in the following circular communication:

Korean stamps may be had from dealers in the United States and elsewhere. There is no watchdog at this office overlooking with canceled stamps, nor is there any little boy at hand waiting to cut off these stamps for a large number of applicants.

In answer to those who want concessions from the Korean government Mr. Allen says that applications are needless. Korea is granting no more concessions these days. He also breaks the cruel news to the women desiring positions at court there that there is "no demand in the Korean palace for foreign women as nurses, maids, governesses, teachers, physicians and companions."

JAPAN'S FIRST CRUISER.

Experience of Her Commander When He Took Charge.

The Sunray was purchased by the Japanese government from the English and was duly brought to Tokyo. Great was the excitement when the huge ship steamed into the harbor. The whole population of the city turned out on the quay to welcome the colossus, and the admiralty solemnly took possession and sent an admiral aboard to learn how to make the "wheels go round." The commander of the Sunray superintended the course of instruction, which came to a speedy end, the Japanese admiral declaring that he understood everything and now wished to be left in command. The British commander doubted the Jap's proficiency after such brief practice, but the little admiral was so insistent that the Englishman gave way with good grace and left the little man in charge of the ship.

The admiral was on the bridge in a twinkling, giving his orders as though to the manner born. The Sunray began to move through the harbor toward the massive sea wall of the quay. Suddenly the humiliating fact became apparent that neither admiral nor crew had the faintest notion how to bring the ship to a standstill. The watching crowd on the quay stood transfixed, awaiting the imminent disaster, but the plucky little admiral with the utmost sangfroid gave orders that the cruiser should be steered round and round, like a kitten in pursuit of its tail. This maneuver was kept up till the fires had been extinguished and steam let off. The ship gradually slowed down and was finally brought to anchor amid the shrill cries of approval from the spectators on the shore.

WAY OF THE WARRIOR.

SWORD WORSHIP ITS RELIGION.

Stern Principles That Made the Samurai Despise Pain and Death Described by James Creelman—Hott a Modern General Plucked Out His Eye to Prove His Courage and Saved Canary Birds in the Midst of Battle.

It is announced that the Russian soldiers moving out to meet the Japanese forces carry holy icons, or images, and that General Kuropatkin on leaving St. Petersburg to take command of the imperial army in Manchuria carried with him more than forty icons and a jeweled shrike, all gifts from his friends and admirers, says James Creelman in the New York World.

One does not hear much of that sort of thing from the war correspondents in Japan. The moral inspiration of the Japanese soldier, which makes him unique among the fighting men of the world, does not derive from Buddhism nor from Shinto, the state church of Japan, but from bushido, or the way of the warrior, an ethical cult prevailing among the samurai, or military caste. As the mikado is a sort of warrior demigod and the profession of arms outranks every other occupation in Japan it is natural that the stern spirit of the way of the warrior should survive all changes in Japanese civilization.

General Yamagi, whose division captured Port Arthur and Taitenwan ten years ago, plucked one of his eyes out at school as a reply to a playmate who doubted his courage. And yet at the battle of Taitenwan I was present when he ordered the canary cages found in the forts to be opened and the birds set free, lest they should starve to death. That order was given while the Chinese cannon were still thundering. It was he who was mainly responsible for the great massacre of unarmed Manchurians at Port Arthur. In many respects Yamagi is a type of the samurai spirit fighting in a modern dress.

It is impossible to understand what it is that makes the Japanese army so formidable without taking into account the traditional heroes of the way of the warrior. It is a stoic rather than a fatalistic creed. To the soldier it stands in the place of a religion or a moral system. It is founded on the virtues, on devotion to a sword bearing caste, whose highest obligation is to die without question for the divinely ordained warrior lord.

It is true that many of the grewsome practices of the bushido have fallen into disuse, but its underlying spirit animates the Japanese army today.

Captain Brinkley, the well known writer on Japan, says in explanation of the way of the warrior:

Because broadwinning was originally the business of those not physically qualified to be soldiers the bushi regarded money with indifference and even contempt. To be swayed in the smallest degree by mercenary motives was despisable in his eyes.

This tradition largely accounts for the ordinary aversion of the Japanese army to the practice of looting. Captain Brinkley, continuing, says:

The bushi was essentially a stoic. He made self control the ideal of his existence and practiced the courageous endurance of suffering so thoroughly that he could without hesitation inflict on his own body pain of the most desperate kind. The power of surrendering life with heroic calmness has been developed by men in all ages and is regarded by philosophers as an elementary form of human virtue practiced with more success in an uncivilized state of society before the finer appreciations of the imaginative and intellectual faculties have been developed by education. But the courage of the bushi cannot justly be ascribed to him. It is a moral sensibility resulting from semibarbaric conditions of life. The current of existence in Japan, from the Nara epoch onward, set with general steadiness in the direction of artistic refinement and voluptuous luxury, amid which men could scarcely fail to acquire habits and tastes inconsistent with acts of high courage or great endurance. This bushi's code, therefore, was not a product of semibarbaric conditions, but rather a protest against emasculating civilization.

He schooled himself to regard death inflicted by his own hand as a normal eventuality. The story of other nations shows epochs when death was welcomed as a relief and deliberately invited as a refuge from the mere weariness of living. But wherever there has been liberty to choose and leisure to employ a painless mode of exit from the world men have invariably selected it.

The bushi, however, deliberately adopted a mode of suicide so painful and so shocking that to school the mind to regard it with indifference was a feat not easy to conceive. His method was to plunge a short sword into the left side of the abdomen, sweep it across to the right, giving it a sharp turn upward at the end of the gash; then to withdraw it, thrust it into the back of the neck and cut toward the throat. Assistance was often rendered by a friend, who, sword in hand, stood ready to decapitate the victim immediately after the stomach had been gashed, but there were innumerable examples of men who consummated the tragedy without aid.

The mere contemplation of such austere traditions, with precepts of frugality and unflinching loyalty, accounts largely for the peculiar spirit of the army which is grappling with Russia today. It is not, as in the case of a Mohammedan, the hope of paradise as a martyr's reward, but rather a studied contempt for suffering and death which makes the little Japanese soldier so terrible in the field. He goes into the fight thinking neither of hell nor heaven, but rather of the dauntless samurai whose heir he is.

The American spirit of industry and commerce has made headway in Japan, her laws and her politics have been Europeanized, but her army still draws its greatest inspiration from the ancient way of the warrior. Sword worship is its religion.

AUTOMATIC SPRINKLERS.

J. Capps & Sons are putting in the most modern system of automatic sprinklers throughout their office and clothing factory buildings. This puts the buildings into the very highest class as regards security against fire. Part of the sprinkling equipment will consist of a large automatic duplex steam pump, capable of throwing 750 gallons of water per minute into the underground mains and sprinkler pipes. The fire pump will draw its supply of water through a ten inch pipe from a large tank to be erected for this purpose, which will hold 75,000 gallons, instantly available for this sole purpose at all times. These improvements are very costly, but serve to keep the manufacturing plant and equipment up to the highest standard.

INJURED BY A FALL.

George Barsley, for many years janitor at the Ayers National bank, and so well known as "Uncle George," met with a most unfortunate accident late Wednesday afternoon.

He had occasion to go to the Odd Fellows' hall in the Ayers block and while there climbed a ten foot ladder. The ladder was insecurely placed and while Mr. Barsley was on the top round it slipped from under him and he fell headlong to the floor.

He put out his hands to save himself, and doubtless broke the fall somewhat by this presence of mind. Despite this fact, his head struck the floor with force enough to severely bruise his temple above the left eye and his left shoulder and both wrists were severely strained. He was alone in the hall at the time and was probably unconscious for several minutes. As soon as he recovered from the shock of the fall he went to Hatch's drug store, and later Dr. W. K. McLaughlin was called. The physician made an examination, but found no bones broken.

Mr. Barsley had a most miraculous escape from a very severe injury and his many friends will wish him a most speedy recovery.

NOTABLE INCREASE IN

TRAVEL TO GRAND CANYON

In the year 1900 the Santa Fe carried 813 passengers to the Grand Canyon of Arizona; in 1903 the number is given as 12,704—a remarkable increase, partly due to better transportation and hotel facilities, but mainly the result of persistent and consistent advertising. The gain over 1902 is more than 6,000, being nearly double. When the new $100,000 hotel at Bright Angel (now building) is ready, another big jump in the visitors' total may be looked for.

Evidently other Americans than President Roosevelt are finding out that the Grand Canyon is "the one great sight which every American should see." In the early days of the stage line from Flagstaff three out of every four tourists came from foreign lands; to day patriotic Americans outnumber the outsiders a hundred to one.

AT THE GRAND.

The American Stock company closed a three nights' successful engagement in the city Wednesday, presenting a stirring melodrama entitled "The World." The play abounds in exciting and thrilling situations and the climaxes were all met in a most admirable manner by the cast. A good sized audience was present.

Miss Carrie Frank has returned from a three months' visit with friends in Sioux City, Iowa. Her cousin, Miss Mattie Frank, accompanied her home for a visit.
